TEACHING

Panel Data Analysis Apr 2022
Place: European University Institute

This is an advance methods course (20 credits) co-taught with Giampiero Passaretta (SUDA) on Panel Data Analysis. This course places an emphasis on the connections between panel data methods and causal inference, which is the primary goal of social science research.

IRT: Getting your abstract ready for ECSR and RC28 Dec 2021
Place: European University Institute / zoom

This is a short workshop I prepared for the "Inequality Round Table" sessions at CLIC. The workshop aim is to encourage students to apply to international conferences, and give them the tools to submit a strong abstract. The workshop included a short lecture on how to write competitive, compelling and (hopefully) successful conference abstracts, and hands-on interactive examples and feedback.

Drawing maps in R October 2020

This is an introductory workshop on spatial data I taught within the CLIC Training workshops at the European University Institute in 2020. You can access all the materials here.
